

STCC reaches out to Branford Hall students

Springfield Technical Community College encourages former Branford Hall Career Institute students to speak to STCC Admissions Office about how the college can help them continue their education.

STCC is now enrolling students in summer and fall classes, which include programs in health care and technical programs. Many of the STCC programs are similar to the ones that were offered by Branford Hall.

According to news reports, staff at Branford Hall in Springfield confirmed the institution has stopped accepting new registrations and will close.

"We invite former students from Branford Hall to continue pursuing educational opportunities leading to rewarding and fulfilling careers," said STCC Dean of Admissions Louisa M. Davis-Freeman. "Call us at (413) 755-3333 or stop by the STCC Admissions Office today on the first floor of Garvey Hall."

Visit www.stcc.edu to learn more about the college's programs or go to www.stcc.edu/apply to submit an online application.